

Department of Sociology Panteion University of Athens

Principles of Sociology I,

Obligatory course, A semester, 5 ECTS, 3 hours teaching every week.

Professor: Paparizos Antonis

The aim of the course is to analyze the processes of the emergence and the socialization of the human being. The most important theme is to explain how the human being develops relationships between himself, the society and the world. How and why these relationships are at the same time relations of production of goods, of power and of ideology.
