

Elements of social folklore 044

Social folklore studies both rural and urban folk culture with a parallel analysis of the operative socio-economic and historical conditions. The subjects examined concern social construction (natural space, home activities, family, wider groups, administration, production and consumption of goods), and morals and customs (life cycle, national cycle, daily life, moral codes, customary law).