

Organizational Sociology and the Armed Forces 086

The focus of this class is on issues surrounding the field of military sociology. Attention is paid to the birth and evolution of this field as well as to crucial issues such as women-gender and the military, family and the military, war games and the public's perception of war, private military firms and military-society relations as well as "sensitive" topics such as military and unionism and military and rape.