

Sociology of political systems, II. Forms of modern party systems and the greek party system

Code 300133 Semester 8

The course analyzes the power structures of organizations such as political parties and trade unions. Political parties perform an important task in government. They bring people together to achieve control of the government, develop policies favorable to their interests and organize and persuade voters to elect their candidates to office. Moreover, the course examines how a radical political party loses its goals under the dynamic of electoral participation
